Beach Road Repair Work Explained

By Adoree Shortle
Echo Staff Writer

In compliance with a request to county supervisors by a Bay St. Louis beach front property owner, the Sea Coast Echo is presenting a comprehensive report on the extent and nature of repair work planned for the Hancock County beach road.

Initial plans and specifications for the project have been drawn by Burke & Assoc., consulting engineers for the county and submitted by supervisors to the state Bureau of Public Roads. Under the terms of the present contract, total costs for the project will be paid under the Emergency Relief Act, by federal funds through the Bureau of Public Roads.

Russell Elliott, board president explained the order of procedure necessary for such programs financed through state or federal agencies.

When project plans and specifications have been approved by the Bureau, right of way easements must be obtained by the board attorney, also subject to the approval of the bureau. A supervision contract for the project is negotiated between the county engineer and the bureau. When the contract is judged to be agreeable to both parties, county administrators are notified through the state aid division to advance for bids.

On the prescribed date, bids are open in the court house by the board of supervisors and a bureau representative. Although the board may make recommendations, Elliott stated that the bureau makes the final decision on awarding the contract.

TWO CONTRACTS
According to Donn Murray, resident engineer for Burke & Assoc., the beach road project will be accomplished under two contracts. The first extends from Clermont Harbor to the intersection of North Second St. and North Beach Blvd. The second contract consists of two sections of the road. One extends from Bayou Caddy to Clermont Harbor, the other from N. Second St. to the northernmost end of the seawall.

Greater amounts of damage and usage are what determine the priority of the first contract, Murray said.

EASEMENTS
There were three types of easements required for this project, according to work to be done at the site covered by the easement.

1) Temporary Construction and Permanent Maintenance - giving the county permission to enter the property in order to restore the road bed and seaward slope. It also provides the authority to return any time in the future to effect necessary road repair or to cleanup the property, cut grass or remove debris at owner's request.

2) Drainage - requiring permanent acquisition of a strip 10 feet wide, from the road edge to the seawall, to replace damaged subsurface drain pipes running under the roadbed to the water. Only six such easements have been necessary for the entire project.

3) Land Acquisition - by which the county government acquires the particular piece of land on a permanent basis. This easement applies only to the area where a concrete slope will be laid.

Easements were necessary for the section of roadway between St. Charles St. and Uman Ave., Murray explained, as that is the only stretch requiring work outside of the existing right of way, or other than the roadbed.

SECTIONS INVOLVED
From St. Charles St. to Sycamore St., Temporary Construction and Permanent Maintenance easements were required as that section will have only a select material slope (good dirt fill, compacted then seeded for grass growth). From Sycamore, 450 feet toward Booker, a paved slope is called for due to the height of the roadbed and the short distance to the seawall. Laying a four-inch concrete slab on the slope will prevent washout and deterioration. This will be the only paved slope in the contract and the only area for which Land Acquisition easements were necessary.

From Booker St. to Uman Ave., the situation and easements are the same as for St. Charles to Sycamore.

The highest point of the beach road occurs at Uman Ave. where it is measured at 24.77 feet above sea level. Traveling south, elevation gradually diminishes to 21 feet at the railroad bridge, 13 feet at Booker and eight feet at St. Charles. Despite the 24-foot elevation at Uman Ave., the distance of approximately 60 feet from the road to the seawall allows for natural slope, not requiring paving.

OWNERS OBJECTIONS
Some property owners were hesitant to give easements to the county government. Murray confirmed that this is not true as far as the county or state are concerned. The signed easements and the road repair project will in no way hinder the property owner in any future construction or anything else may wish to do with his property, subject to city approval," he said.

Murray also said that anyone wanting further information concerning the project may feel free to call him at home after 5 p. m. and he'll be happy to "bring the plans and specifications to your home and explain in detail what will take place on your property."

Jacob Resigns From Port And Harbor Position

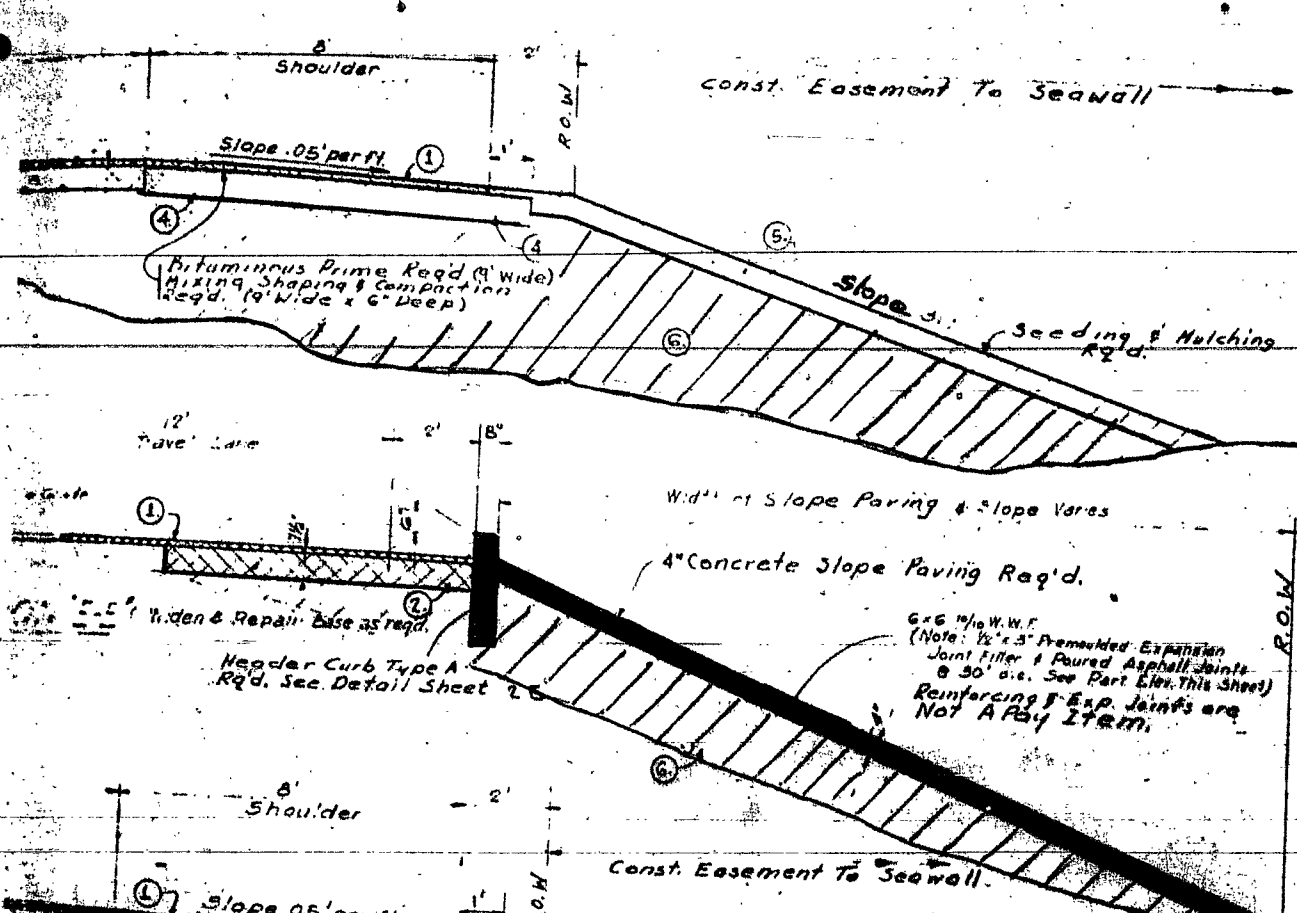

Charles Hill, Port and Harbor Commission director, has announced the resignation of Neville R. Jacob from his position as public relations director for the commission. Jacob first joined the Port and Harbor Commission in May 1969. In his letter of resignation to Hill, Jacob expressed his reasons for leaving the organization. "As you are aware my principal aim and desire is more in the direction of creative writing than in accounting and it is felt that your need now lies more in the direction of the latter skill."

ATTEND SEMINAR

The massive Shell Oil plant fire Nov. 18 didn't deter four local law enforcement officers from attending a Uniform Crime Reports seminar that day in Gulfport. Sheriff's deputy Emile Piazza, Waveland policeman Don McIntyre, Bay policeman Alvin Favre and Chief Robert Goodsell assisted in early morning fire fighting then left to attend seminar classes. The two-day seminar was conducted under the auspices of the State Law Enforcement Agency.

Toy Bowl Set Sunday

Ronnie Tangus, O.L.G. football team coach, announced the second annual Toy Bowl will be staged Sunday, December 5, at St. Stanislaus Stadium. Gates will open at 11 A.M. Admission tickets should be accompanied by a toy. All proceeds and toys will be used for Hancock County Christmas needy. Teams participating in the triple header will be St. Paul's of Pass Christian, St. John's of Gulfport, first game; Our Lady of the Gulf Bears and Annunciation of Kilm, second and Little Farms Eagles of New Orleans vs. Mobile Elks, third game. An added attraction will be the appearance of Santa Claus between the first and second games. O.L.G. Honey Bears, under the direction of Mrs. Edgely Spratley, will perform at halftime. Tickets are available at all of the participating schools. Food and drinks will be on sale. Trophies will be awarded after the final game.

A COPY of the engineer's drawing of a section of the beach road illustrates the grade of slope and type of material to be used. The top drawing shows a gentler slope from the road edge to seawall, requiring only select material. In the lower drawing, the slope is deeper, requiring concrete paving as well as a header curb.

SIGNS MISSING

Two of the newly erected street signs in Bay St. Louis have been stolen according to a police report. The signs were for "Carter" and "Hill" streets. The police are looking for anyone who stole the signs.

COMMITTEE MEETING

Bunk Gardner, program coordinator for the city of Bay St. Louis, has announced a first meeting of the newly organized Citizens' Involvement Committee, set for 8 p.m. Monday night. City officials are expected to attend the meeting which will be held in the Community Center facility of the Housing Authority complex on Old Spanish Trail.

Charles Anderson, Mississippi Research and Development Center official, will be principal speaker.

assorted jewelry, beer, and whiskey valued at approximately $1,000.

There, the 15-year-old male, who was charged with possession of a handgun, a .38 caliber pistol and more beer and whiskey, some of which they consumed. The older of the two repeatedly discharged the pistol, damaging walls, clocks and furnishings in the house. The 13-year-old had received minor cuts on his arm leaving traces of blood on the walls, so the two boys decided to set fire to the house "to get rid of evidence from bullets, blood and fingerprints," they said. They found a can of roofing tar which they spread on bed mattresses and ignited. Insurance company investigators Monday estimated the resultant damage at about $10,000.

The two then proceeded to the Edward Canady residence on Dogwood Drive, where they broke into the garage, pushed the Canady's 1971 Chrysler into the street and drove away. Owners of the automobile awoke at that point and called police.

Holmes received the call while on patrol on Highway 80, and shortly after spotted the car running into a dead end. Holmes placed one boy under custody as the driver fled into the woods. A call for help brought another deputy, a constable and three Waveland units who found the boy hiding in underbrush.

The two youths have been charged with two counts of auto theft, one count of a concealed weapon, one count of discharging a firearm within city limits, one count of arson, two counts of vandalism, three counts of unlawful breaking and entering. Other minor charges include using obscene language, failing to stop for a blue light (sheriff's car), fleeing to avoid arrest.

In addition, the 15-year-old has been charged with threatening an officer, driving while intoxicated and cruelty to animals. The 13-year-old was also booked for public drunkenness. Later charges were added against both youths

An Acknowledgment And An Apology

First there was an explosion. Then, a raging fire. And as quickly, as though by magic, a great crowd of men appeared, working together desperately to contain the wildly growing flames.

There were many examples of individual heroism at the recent Shell Oil plant fire - a major catastrophe by any standards. To those who weren't there, perhaps "heroism" may sound a little ostentatious. But to eyewitnesses, from the very beginning to the last curl of smoke, there is no better description of the countless men, teenagers to elderly, who fought and finally extinguished the blaze.

A number of firefighters represented the eight area fire departments which always respond immediately to a fire call. But the majority were just members of the community who came to help. None had protective clothing, a scant few had prior experience, but obviously all shared the same instinct. Property damage was estimated at $200,000 - but no lives were lost.

Flames licked four storage tanks containing nearly 74,000 gallons of highly inflammable fuel. Had even one exploded, the death toll would have been numerous. Knowing that, one man crouched with a hose 30 feet from the tanks for two hours, keeping them wet and cool. Various other men assisted him, but he never moved until it was all over. When the fire was out and the danger past, the soaked, choked, bruised and exhausted firefighters disbursed as quickly as they had come - to return to work, to school or home.

Individual acts of heroism are too numerous to relate here. Some of the names are known, some were just familiar faces. All were the greatest measure of commendation and gratitude. We do not feel it presumptuous for this paper to speak for the community, for those men ARE the community. And that's a comforting thought.

It is also hoped that the proper authorities have taken note of the serious deficiencies existing in the Bay St. Louis fire department and will act accordingly. The above incident graphically illustrates the fact that three men expose themselves daily to such dangers with no protective clothing, no hand equipment and a truck missing 40 percent of required fire suppression equipment. That's asking a lot of any man.

Our readers write

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

Do I detect in recent Echo reporting what we have come to know as slanting of certain news-especially insofar as it concerns local political activity? Slanting of the news, if I may venture a definition, is to render in writing information incompletely in order to reflect a particular viewpoint.

I am referring to the news article which appeared in last week's (November 18th) issue of your paper which referred to my voting against awarding a contract for preparing a new zoning map for the City of Bay St. Louis. That is correct, of course, but my criticism of your reporting on this particular action of the City Council arises from the fact that you failed to bring to the attention of the public that this is a $2,500.00 job plus other costs which Mr. Raymond stipulates must be paid by the City.

It should also have been reported that Mr. Raymond had already begun work on the map even before it was officially awarded him by the City Council. Commissioners Arceneaux and Frisbie, on their own initiative and without consulting the mayor, had already given him the authority to proceed.

As stated in your article, the City may not be required to advertise bids for work done in the professional and technical services. It should also be pointed out, however, that neither does the law prohibit the Council from advertising for professional services. The Hancock County Board of Supervisors recently saw fit to advertise for such professional services.

I do not question Mr.

Raymond's professional know-how in this field. Neither do I take issue with the Planning and Zoning Commission for recommending Mr. Raymond. I believe that there are others in our community, however, who can do the job equally as well as Mr. Raymond. Moreover, the taxpayer deserves every consideration in the spending of his tax dollar and that is why I so strongly feel that this job should have been on competitive bidding.

Another article that could be said to contain a suspicion of slant-type reporting appeared in your November 11th issue and dealt with a violation of the City's electrical inspection ordinance. The matter was well reported except for the fact that you failed to mention the name of the defendant's lawyer. Why? That information, I think, would have been of special interest to the general public.

Yours very truly,
Warren Carver,
Mayor

Dear Sir:

Heartfelt gratitude towards the leaders and workers of the Volunteer Fire Prevention Project in cutting high weeds and otherwise clearing away potential fire hazards, so dangerous, more so, at this time of year.

As I've been told, this work was being done without cost to citizens, who requested it, and it is with this in mind, I feel these workers, and those who sponsored it, are deserving a note of confidence and commendation. All citizens benefit by a project of this sort. Remember, it takes grit and deep human interest, to be aroused out of a warm bed on a cold winter night or early morning, to answer that ominous whistle-blast.

Sincerely,
Eleanor and Jim McFie
Waveland, Miss.

Dear Sir:

Police protection in the City of Waveland is non-existent. On Saturday November 20th, 1971, thieves forced their way into my garage, (which is part of the house) pushed my car out then drove it away. On the same night the home of a neighbor on Sears Ave., was broken into and vandalized. Also on the same night the home of a friend on Surt St. was vandalized, and then burned. On the same night a car was stolen, driven into a ditch on Sears Ave., and demolished. I was in formed that other homes had been broken into on the same night, but was unable to confirm this.

Traffic laws are not enforced in the City of Waveland. About 90 percent of the motorists using the streets of Waveland run stop signs. On November 25, 1971, (nine) people were killed in Mississippi City. In the collision of two pickup trucks after one of the trucks ran a stop sign. Speed limits are ignored on Sears Ave., and Piney Ridge Road, these streets have been converted to uncontrolled drag strips. "Slow Children Playing" signs are ignored by parents of small children. There are quite a number of vehicles in operation that have either defective mufflers or none at all. Quite some time back I called the Mayor's attention by letter to the above noted violations and was advised that

Yours very truly,

Local Government In Action

Hancock County Board Of Supervisors

(ED. NOTE: This is the eleventh in a series of articles by staff writer Adoree Shortle, explaining the various departments of the three local governments - Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County.)

This week begins a new and final phase of this series, an investigation in Hancock County government.

The attitude of citizens county-wide toward the board of supervisors indicates a serious lack of knowledge concerning the vast responsibilities invested in the office by Mississippi law.

An alarming percentage of voters seems to regard county roads as the only official concern of the supervisors. It seems a logical conclusion that if a voter isn't aware of what the job entails, how can he judge whether or not a candidate is qualified to fulfill it?

All too often citizens vote a man into office knowing virtually nothing of his qualifications, then turn on him when he falls short of perfection, or when it becomes apparent that he is not up to the job.

Hancock county voters have just elected an almost totally new board of supervisors. Four of the five have never before held a public office. The fifth, going into a third term, is well seasoned. This board will face responsibilities of a magnitude far exceeding those of any board in the history of the county.

There were fourteen counties in existence when Mississippi achieved statehood in 1817. The Mississippi constitution of 1832 established a county board of police consisting of five members, chosen by qualified electors for a two-year term. The board was given jurisdiction over roads, highways, ferries, bridges "and all other matters of county police."

The county has come a long way since that period, and the duties of a supervisor have grown to a staggering proportion, except in the eyes of the county citizen still thinking in terms of roads and bridges.

REQUIREMENTS

According to the Manual for

Mississippi County Supervisors, published by the Bureau of Governmental Research, Univ. of Miss., the present-day board's executive and legislative roles far outweigh its judicial role.

It is interesting to note that although the duties of a supervisor have become numerous and complex, there has been little change in the requirements for the job. Neither the state constitution nor the statutes establish any professional qualifications for members of the board.

Once elected, to "qualify" for office he need only to take an oath and post bond, on or before the day the term begins.

BOND

The oath is simple; the bond is not. Each supervisor must execute a bond containing sureties equal to five percent of all state and county taxes collectible for the year immediately preceding the beginning of his term of office. The bond is made payable to the state as security for any illegal act of the supervisor.

REMOVAL FROM OFFICE

As civil officers of the state, supervisors are subject to removal by impeachment for "treason, bribery or any misdemeanor in office." Any member of the board so convicted is subject to "indictment, trial, judgment and punishment according to law." The house of representatives is vested with the exclusive power of impeachment, but the senate is the only body to try the impeachment.

By law, removal from office is mandatory if, on indictment by a grand jury, a supervisor is convicted of "misconduct or misdemeanor in office; a felony; corruption or embezzlement in office; gambling with public money; habitual drunkenness or drunkenness while discharging official duties; or violation of public purchasing provisions."

Violation of certain nepotism statutes (giving jobs to relatives) can also lead to removal from office. Removal can also be effected by the governor under certain conditions, through a modified recall system.

COMPENSATION

Hancock supervisors receive a fixed salary of $333 per month, which is supposed to include all expenses. No additional reimbursements are allowed, such as fees, per diem payments or mileage allowances. All salaries are paid from the general fund, road and bridge fund or any other county fund available for such purposes.

Any member of the board receiving compensation not legally due him, such as kickbacks, percentages or personal payment for use of county equipment may be punished as for a misdemeanor, both by fine and imprisonment. Under such condition, removal from office is automatic.

PRIVILEGES

Although demands for performance of duty are stringent under state law, considerably less in the way of privileges is extended to the supervisors. They are exempt from working on the roads, from serving in the militia and from jury service so long as they continue in office. The first is a dubious privilege as no one now is required to work county roads, or pay a commutation tax in lieu thereof, as in the past.

POWERS AND DUTIES

The powers and duties of today's supervisors are too varied and numerous to do more than list in this article. Hancock county supervisors' jurisdiction has expanded from the original roads and bridges and general fund, to include a total of 22 separate funds, each involving a vital area of county administration.

In addition to the first two mentioned, funds have been established for County Schools, Health and Sick Fund, Coastal Mental Health, County Fair, Civil Defense, Veterans' Service, Advertising, Pauper Fund, Library, Mosquito Control, Port and Harbor Commission, Chamber of Commerce, Regional Planning, County Planning, Parks and Playgrounds, Hospital, School Bonds, Pearl River Junior College maintenance, PRC Vocational-Technical Bldg. Fund, Pearl River Basin Development District.

As an indication of the complexity of each of the above, the general fund alone covers the tax assessor's office, chancery and circuit courts, all services to the county agent, forestry service, sheriff, buildings and equipment maintenance, office spaces for all county agencies, welfare and commodities, and a pro rata share of the supervisors' salaries.

FINANCIAL ADMIN.

As well as the aforementioned administrative duties, the supervisors' financial responsibilities include revenue sources, budgeting and expenditure control, appropriations, the development of industrial and agricultural balance.

A more detailed exploration of certain county departments will be presented in subsequent articles.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling
City-County Library Writer

In 1852, Benjamin L.C. Waller, assistant professor of geology at the University of Mississippi, traveled through the southern part of the State, known as the Piney Woods section on an agricultural and geological survey.

Waller found that the economy of this part of the country was changing rapidly. Up until the '40's, the rich forage in the woods and the good water in the numerous bays and creeks had made the Piney Woods ideal for grazing. Cattle raising and marketing had been the principal occupation of the people for many years, and on the flatlands, especially along the coast and near the Pearl River, some cotton had been grown.

Now, in the '50's, most of the good forage was gone through over-grazing and fires, and lumbering was rapidly claiming the spotlight. During his days of travel through the long and short-leaf pine woods, Waller saw almost as many sawmills as cattle and everywhere he went he found turpentine and charcoal kilns and distilleries.

Proceeding through Gainville and Pearlinton, neither of which received a very favorable report from Prof. Waller, he arrived at the Indian mounds on Mulatto Bayou, near the mouth of Pearl River, the site of Laurel Wood plantation which his friend J. F. H. Claiborne bought and developed a year later. His description of the mounds (entered in his diary) is so graphic that he might have been viewing them today, the only change being that some of the striking landmarks have been partly or wholly eroded away. Although he mentions in his diary that the mounds are within sight of the Rignolds, in view of his known interest in the history of the State (six years later he joined the Mississippi Historical Society) he makes no mention of the naval battle fought there some forty years previously.

Waller then traveled eastward along the shore of Lake Borgoe to the village of Shiloh, where he found the ruins of a small open and ruinous abutment and a great scarcity of provender. He evidently made a tour of the town on Thursday, August 19, 1852, and noted that "There is a good Academy here of the protestants. The only Church is a new brick building of the Catholics, of monastic, Frenchified, gothic style. The Jesuits have also a school. Finding no one in the town who could give any aid or information, and discovering that the only land route to Pass Christian was a "wide circuit" (over a very bad road through dreary pine woods) requiring of which received a very favorable report from Prof. Waller, he arrived at the Indian mounds on Mulatto Bayou, near the mouth of Pearl River, the site of Laurel Wood plantation which his friend J. F. H. Claiborne bought and developed a year later. His description of the mounds (entered in his diary) is so graphic that he might have been viewing them today, the only change being that some of the striking landmarks have been partly or wholly eroded away. On Monday, "finding that I could not accomplish anything at so fashionable a resort as Pass Christian," Waller traveled eastward to the Mississippi City and thence by a circuitous route back to his home at Washington.

His diary, replete with interesting observations of the Gulf Coast region, was published in 1854.

WAVELAND TIDES
Main Street To Be Cleaned
With the new Christmas lighting on Main Street extending from U.S. Highway 90 to the Beach Front, Mayor Warren Carver has announced that Main Street will be given a complete cleaning. Felix Seeger, Superintendent of Public Grounds, will be in charge of the clean-up. The accumulation of sand and dirt along the curbing will be cleared and grass on sidewalk areas will be cut.

"While it is not possible for us to make a personal appeal to each family on Main Street," says Mayor Carver, "I would like to use this means to ask each and every property holder to cooperate by bringing his premises up to a high standard of cleanliness and order. Main Street is one of the principal entrances into our city," continued the mayor. "It should, therefore, be an area which presents the best image to visitors and newcomers to Bay St. Louis."

WAVELAND MARSHAL Fred Bourgeois shows Mrs. O. J. Howe of Waveland the proper way to use the new property marking device available to area citizens. The device is used to mark all personal property for the purpose of identification in the event of a burglary. The device plus the forms needed are available at the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments and the Hancock County Sheriff's office. Two marking devices and the necessary forms are also available at the Farm Bureau Insurance office on Highway 607 in Kiln for all residents of that area. Gus Uram, vice-president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, which is sponsoring the project urges all people with summer homes to use the device because they are so often absent from their homes.

POLICE REPORTS

An out-of-town man is being held in Hancock county jail awaiting extradition to Alabama on charges of automobile theft and forgery. John M. Hathaway was arrested Nov. 10 by sheriff's deputy Terry Holmes after Hathaway had attempted to sell Waveland automobile dealer Frank Schuffert a 1969 Cadillac for $415.

Schuffert became suspicious of the transaction and notified the sheriff's office. On further investigation, Holmes found that the car had been taken without permission from a used car dealership in Dothan, Ala., and that Hathaway had given the dealer in Alabama a forged check in the amount of $500 as partial payment for the Cadillac. Hathaway had driven the car to Texas and on his way back to Alabama, he attempted to sell the car here.

The 37-year-old man is wanted by Alabama authorities on charges of false pretense and forgery. At the time of his arrest, Hathaway was also attempting to sell a 21-inch television set, which Holmes said is believed to be stolen.

Waveland police arrested three juveniles Friday night for the alleged breaking and entering of two residences, one on Fell St. and the other on Sandy St.

Waveland city marshal Fred Bourgeois found articles of clothing, belonging to one of the youths, in a bag containing stolen items hidden behind one of the houses. The boy was arrested Friday night along with the other two.

The 16, 18 and 17-year-old youths are being held in the County Detention Center pending action by the juvenile authorities.

Bay St. Louis police received and answered 46 calls in the period between November 23-30.

Twelve of the calls were from city home owners reporting break-ins in the occupants' absence. Details have been withheld pending further investigation of the incidents.

Burglars broke into a front display window of the Coastal Auto Supply store on Highway 90 Saturday night and stole $125 worth of auto parts, according to the store managers. The theft was reported at 10:15 p.m.

Later the same evening, another auto supply store was broken into, through a side window. The owner of Casanova's Auto Supply on S. Beach Blvd. told police that no merchandise was stolen.

Pieces of asphalt were apparently used to break a display window in Jerome's Men's Store Friday night, where the burglar took only one pair of men's boots, then left.

Bay St. Louis police assisted highway patrol officers in an accident involving a tractor trailer and six automobiles on the Bay bridge, early Saturday morning. There were no injuries reported as resulting from the multiple collisions. A heavy fog hindering visibility contributed to the traffic problems Chief Robert Goodsell said.

A breaking and entering was reported at the Bay View Restaurant on S. Beach Blvd. early Sunday morning. Two windows were broken to gain entry into the restaurant. Irwin Bothe, restaurant owner said articles were found in disarray in the kitchen, but nothing was found to be missing.

Robert Cohen, a 16-year-old Henderson Point resident, was injured in an accident at the intersection of Highway 90 and Second St. Cohen was riding a Yamaha 300 motorcycle on Second St. when he was struck by an automobile driven by Larry Lewis of Bay St. Louis. Cohen sustained a broken leg and multiple abrasions from the accident and has been brought to a hospital in New Orleans. Lewis was given a traffic citation.

'Turn In A Pusher' Program May Prevent Drug Abuse

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, in cooperation with the seven Chambers of Commerce covering the three Mississippi Coastal Counties, have implemented a hard-core narcotics pusher program, according to Robert O. Rasch, President of MCCC, this effort is probably the largest such program in the nation.

Mr. Rasch said, "The program is called TIP, an acronym which means 'Turn In A Pusher'. It is aimed at the hard-core pusher, and designed to dry up the illegal source of supply of narcotics. The TIP program was created and developed by a former FBI Agent named James Cusack of Tampa, Florida, and was placed in operation by the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce, Tampa, Florida, in February of this year. Since its implementation in Florida, officials there have advised that over 5,000 telephone calls have been received and 'tips' thus received have resulted in several hundred cases which are presently awaiting prosecution in the courts and there have been numerous convictions involving the kingpins in illegal drug traffic.

"We have taken this program and extended it to meet our problems in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties. TIP here, will extend from the Louisiana border to the Alabama border, and it involves the unanimous endorsement and participation of the seven Coast Chambers of Commerce and law enforcement agencies. We feel that our area will become nationally known as 'TIP Country'. About a quarter of a million permanent residents will be involved and 1,814 square miles will be covered.

"We want to point out, too, that TIP will in no way conflict with any known existing drug abuse program in this area. These other programs are primarily designed to provide treatment and education, while TIP is directed at the source of supply and will hopefully eliminate the availability of illegal drugs.

"Each Chamber of Commerce is to be highly commended for its recognition of this vicious problem and its desire to join with the Crime Commission and all other Chambers in waging this all-out war against this insidious drug traffic. They certainly deserve the moral and financial support of all concerned and responsible citizens, corporate and individual, within their area. The Crime Commission also wants to single out for special tribute those individuals and firms who have so generously and anonymously contributed materials and services toward the implementation of this program. We are confident that anyone with information concerning hard-core pushers will offer their full and complete cooperation and call one of the TIP telephone lines. It could save their life and those of their friends and neighbors."

Earl Riley, Executive Director of the Crime Commission, explained, "The basic value or merit of the TIP program is that it is strictly non-official in character. While the end result will be investigation and prosecution of the pushers, the program is controlled and coordinated by citizens and there is absolutely no possibility of the informant's identity ever being revealed.

"It works in this way. An informant, or one having information on the identity and modus operandi of a pusher, calls one of the TIP lines. The TIP lines will be in operation twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. In Hancock County the number is 467-3401; in Harrison County the number is 863-3401; and in Jackson County the number is 875-3101. All lines terminate at one Reception Center. Here, the information from all areas is correlated and coordinated and the information received is then disseminated to the appropriate law enforcement agency within the three county area having jurisdiction of the offense. In this way, should we receive information from many different areas on the Coast relating to the same pusher, we can inform the interested law enforcement agencies.

"As a practical matter, one having information regarding a pusher calls the TIP line and he is informed by the operator on duty with the admonition 'This is the TIP line. Please do not give your name'. He is then assigned a number which will be his and his alone. He then proceeds to give the operator the information he has available regarding a given pusher. The more pertinent and complete the information, the more likely the informant will be making the informant eligible for a reward. The rewards will range as high as $500.00 per tip. The burden is on the informant from this point on to follow this case in the news media or through other sources of information to determine if the subject of his tip was convicted as a pusher of narcotics. If he determines a conviction has resulted, he should then call the TIP line, identify himself by his code number and inquire about his reward. Arrangements will be made to pay the reward in cash through means of a 'blind drop', so that no one, at any time, will be aware of the person's identity.

"On the target date for the initiation of the TIP program, November 19, 1971, leaflets describing TIP were distributed on every Junior High, High School and Junior College campus within the three counties. 35,000 leaflets were made available for this coverage. Posters were also distributed to be placed on these school campuses and other public places. Broad and continuing coverage on this program has been promised by all news media and it is anticipated that continuing informative coverage will be provided. The public will be kept informed of the progress and statistics of this program."

Mr. Riley continued, "Law enforcement agencies within the three counties have been apprised of TIP and they have promised their complete cooperation in pursuing the information made available."

"TIP also ranks high as a psychological deterrent. One law enforcement officer where TIP is in operation exults, 'The pushers are getting paranoid. They really don't know who's going to squeal on them, maybe their best buddy. We've heard that some have already cleared out. After all, a town with a price on a pusher's head is simply not a good place to push in.'

"This is a classic example," said Riley, "of Civic Improvement through Citizen Involvement and we urge every individual, and organization to give TIP a complete and complete endorsement and financial assistance, making it a pusher to Perdition!"

Sorority To Sponsor Christmas Ceremony

The annual tree lighting ceremony and Christmas pageant in Pass Christian is announced this year for

Fire Report

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department was called Sunday to extinguish a blaze in a home at Spanish Acres Drive. The fire of undetermined origin began in the garage and spread to the adjoining house. William Schwartz, occupant of the home estimated $1,500 damage done to the structure. Fire chief Floyd Page was assisted by George and Elmer Thornton, members of the Bay Volunteer Fire Dept.

Monday firemen were called to extinguish a blaze in a tarp, threatening a residence at 434 St. John St. The tarp was being used by workmen renovating the house. No property damage was reported.

A monthly fire department report submitted by chief Page showed the following activities: three house fires, two wood fires, one train fire, one warehouse fire, one smoke scare and no false alarms.

December 15 in War Memorial Park, on Scenic Drive in Pass Christian. Alpha Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority is sponsoring the event for the city. The tree to be lighted was sent to the citizens of Pass Christian by Friends of Houston, Texas as a goodwill gesture following the devastation of Camille.

Activities will begin at 6 p.m. with other events to follow the tree lighting. A live Christmas tree, also planted in the park by the Friends of the Park, will be dedicated by that organization to the children of the city.

A pageant in memory of Capt. James M. Hill, Jr., is planned following the tree ceremonies. Capt. Hill was commanding officer of the Navy Seabee detachment at the time Camille struck, and was in charge of cleanup operations in that area. Capt. Hill died in Washington, D.C. last July.

Groups participating in the pageant include Pass Christian High School, North Street Elementary, St. Paul's Catholic School, Pass Christian Girl Scouts, Trinity Episcopal Church choir and the First Baptist Church of Long Beach. An invitation to attend the evening's ceremonies is extended to all residents of coast communities, according to a spokesman for the sorority.

'Turn In A Pusher' Program May Prevent Drug Abuse

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, in cooperation with the seven Chambers of Commerce covering the three Mississippi Coastal Counties, have implemented a hard-driving campaign against hard-core narcotic pushers, and according to Robert O. Rasch, President of MCCC, this effort is probably the largest such program in the nation.

Mr. Rasch said, "The program is called TIP, an acronym which means 'Turn In A Pusher'. It is aimed at the hard-core pusher, and designed to dry up the illegal source of supply of narcotics. The TIP Program was created and developed by a former FBI Agent named James Cusack of Tampa, Florida, and was placed in operation by the Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce, Tampa, Florida, in February of this year. Since its implementation in Florida, officials there have advised that over 5,000 telephone calls have been received and 'tips' thus received have resulted in several hundred cases which are presently awaiting prosecution in the courts and there have been numerous convictions involving the kingpins in illegal drug traffic.

"We have taken this program and extended it to meet our problems in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties. TIP here, will extend from the Louisiana border to the Alabama border, and it involves the unanimous endorsement and participation of the seven Coast Chambers of Commerce and law enforcement agencies. We feel that our area will become nationally known as 'TIP Country'. About a quarter of a million permanent residents will be involved and 1,614 square miles will be covered.

"We want to point out, too, that TIP will in no way conflict with any known existing drug abuse program in this area. These other programs are primarily designed to provide treatment and education, while TIP is directed at the source of supply and will hopefully eliminate the availability of illegal drugs.

"Each Chamber of Commerce is to be highly commended for its recognition of this vicious problem and its desire to join with the Crime Commission and all other Chambers in waging this all-out war against this insidious drug traffic. They certainly deserve the moral and financial support of all concerned and responsible citizens, corporate and individual, within their area. The Crime Commission also wants to single out for special tribute those individuals and firms who have so generously and anonymously contributed materials and services toward the implementation of this program. We are confident that anyone with information concerning hard-core pushers will offer their full and complete cooperation and call one of the TIP telephone lines. It could save their life and those of their friends and neighbors.

Earl Riley, Executive Director of the Crime Commission, explained, "The basic value or merit of the TIP program is that it is strictly non-official in character. While the end result will be investigation and prosecution of the pusher, the program is controlled and coordinated by citizens and there is absolutely no possibility of the informant's identity ever being revealed.

"It works in this way. An informant, or one having information on the identity and modus operandi of a pusher, calls one of the TIP lines. The TIP lines will be in operation twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. In Hancock County the number is 467-3401; in Harrison County, the number is 563-3401; and in Jackson County the number is 375-3104. All lines terminate at one Reception Center. Here, the information from all areas is correlated and coordinated and the information received is then disseminated to the appropriate law enforcement agency within the three county area having jurisdiction of the offense. In this way, should we receive information from many different areas on the Coast relating to the same pusher, we can inform the interested law enforcement agencies.

"As a practical matter, one having information regarding a pusher calls the TIP line and he is informed by the operator on duty with the admonition 'This is the TIP line. Please do not give your name.' He is then assigned a number which will be his and his alone. He then proceeds to give the operator the information he has available regarding the pusher. The more pertinent and complete the information given, the more likely it is that the informant will receive a reward.

The rewards will range as high as $500.00 per tip. The burden is on the informant from this point on to follow this case in the news media or through other sources of information to determine if the subject of his tip was convicted as a pusher of narcotics. If he determines a conviction has resulted, he should then call the TIP line, identify himself by his code number and inquire about his reward. Arrangements will be made to pay the reward in cash through means of a 'blind drop', so that no one, at any time, will be aware of the person's identity.

"On the target date for the initiation of the TIP program, November 19, 1971, leaflets describing TIP were distributed on every Junior High, High School and Junior College campus within the three counties. 35,000 leaflets were made available for this coverage. Posters were also distributed to be placed on these school campuses and other public places. Broad and continuing coverage on this program has been promised by all news media and it is anticipated that continuing informative coverage will be provided. The public will be kept informed of the progress and statistics of this program.

Mr. Riley continued, "Law enforcement agencies within the three counties have been apprised of TIP and they have promised their complete cooperation in pursuing the information made available.

"TIP also ranks high as a psychological deterrent. One law enforcement officer where TIP is in operation exults, 'The pushers are getting paranoid. They really don't know who's going to squeal on them, maybe their best buddy. We've heard that some have already cleared out. After all, a town with a price on a pusher's head is simply not a good place to push in.'

"This is a classic example," said Riley, "of 'Civic Improvement through Citizen Involvement' and we urge every individual, and organization to give TIP the complete cooperation, moral and financial assistance, help send a pusher to Parchman."

MR. AND MRS. JERRY FRIERSON

Frierion-Maufray Vows Exchanged

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding at 1 p. m. Saturday, November 27, of Miss Deborah Kay Maufray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Lex Maufray of Bay St. Louis, and Jerry Wayne Frierion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Frierion of Piquette, Miss.

Rev. George Kitchin performed the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white gladioli and mums decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white velvet gown fashioned with Juliette sleeves trimmed with lace appliques re-embroidered in pearls.

Her veil of illusion, edged with lace, attached to a velvet rose headpiece fell into a full length train. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Miss Betty Biehl, Bay St. Louis, served as maid of honor, and Christy Burk of Bryan, Texas, was flower girl.

Bridesmaids were Misses Lynn and Donna Maufray, Cynthia Favre, all of Bay St. Louis, and Pamela Maufray, Kila.

The maid of honor, bridesmaids and flower girl wore pink velvet dresses, trimmed in maroon ribbon. Their headpieces were fashioned of small pink velvet roses and pink tulle outlined with lace. They carried a pink velvet cabbage rose interwoven with maroon tulle and the flower girl carried a basket of pink velvet rose buds.

Tommy Burk of Bryan, Texas, was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Bennie Pierce, Piquette; Lex Maufray, Bay St. Louis; Jimmy Stockstill, Piquette; Allan Thurman and Richard Thurman and Glen Toca, all of New Orleans, and Charles Maufray, Bay St. Louis.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion Home.

The bride's table, overlaid with a lace cloth made by the bride's grandmother, the late Mrs. Givens Parker, was centered with a four-tiered cake iced in pale pink trimmed in white rose buds. The top tier held an arrangement of bells interspersed with pink ribbon.

Mrs. Gene Murphy of Pearl River, La., presided at the cake table and Mrs. Jim Arrowood of Ocean Springs was at the punch bowl.

The mother of the bride received their guests wearing a blue chiffon dress with matching accessories. The mother of the groom chose a navy and white dress and matching accessories.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a lavender wool tweed dress with beige accessories and a sweetheart rose corsage. The couple will make their home in Bryan, Texas.

A graduate of Bay High School, Class 1971, the bride is presently employed by Hancock General Hospital.

The groom is employed by Tommy Burk Plumbing Company of Piquette and Bryan, Texas.

Books Provide New Gift Ideas

Now that Thanksgiving is past, most of our thoughts are turning to the next holiday season, and, more specifically to what shall we give everyone this year. There seems to be a nation-wide trend toward handmade gifts today, and your City-County Library is the place to go for ideas. Needlecraft items make popular and treasured gifts, especially with today's emphasis on our earlier American traditions. Such books as Erica Wilson's "Crewel Embroidery", Martha Stearns' "Homespun and Blue", and Gertrude Taylor's "America's Knitting Book" are filled with ideas and detailed instructions. For some really beautiful old-time ideas, there is Butterick's "Fancy and Practical Crochet Work", published in 1896.

This is also the time to begin cooking for the holidays, either for gifts or for your own use. Some new cookbooks to note are "Cooking Up a Storm" by Katy Caire, Helen Brown's "West Coast Cook Book", Southern Living's Blue "Ribbons Recipes", and "Bayou Cuisine: Its Tradition and Transition," published by St. Stephen's Episcopal Church of Indianola. "Many" other books are available at your library with how-to do-it ideas for everything from decorations to toys to Christmas plays and programs. Remember, if you start now, you will still have plenty of time to make those extra-special gifts that will be long enjoyed and remembered.

College, and received his B.S. Degree in 1959 from the University of Southern Mississippi. He acquired his Masters in Administration in 1961 and his Masters in Guidance in 1964.

In the school session of 1960-61 he entered the Bay St. Louis School System where he has taught for twelve years. He was guidance counselor for two years at the junior high before becoming principal.

When asked if the schools of today offer better opportunities than the schools he attended, his answer was a definite, "Yes, because we all know these are important assets and tributes to the school." He later mentioned that typing was the only business course offered during his school years, while today the school curriculum offers such business courses as bookkeeping, shorthand, and general business.

As for ideas concerning school improvement, Mr. Cameron remarked that he would like to see some form of an art program instituted in the elementary or Junior High School. Also, he thinks a language other than English would prove beneficial if introduced at a Junior High level.

One of the most controversial subjects on campus today is the current Dress Code. Mr. Cameron has set ideas which he believes are fair and just. This is the way he handles the situation: If a girl is sent to him with a dress or skirt exceeding 4 1/2 inches above the knee the hem is let out and the student is sent back to class. The second time she is told to report to the office, the student is sent home for a week. The third time, well, he says there usually isn't a third time!

As one walks down the hall and peeks into the classrooms, he can see that Mr. Cameron and his faculty are doing a fine job and are a credit to this school system.

Owners Want Land Cleared

More than 50 area property owners have signed releases for the Hancock Fire Prevention Committee workers to clear their property of hazardous weeds in conjunction with the current drive.

A report from George Cleary, committee chairman, revealed that in the past two Saturdays, volunteer workers have cleared highways in the Kilb and Pearlington communities as well as a number of private properties under the direction of fire chiefs E.D. Cameron and Guy Stockstill. Using bush hogs donated for this purpose by county supervisors and private citizens, roadsides were also cleared along Spanish Trail.

State Approves County

A request by the county welfare office for a food stamp program in Hancock County has been approved by the state.

A motion was passed by the board to authorize Mrs. Francisiewicz to seek additional information on the administration of the program.

Mr. Russell Elliott stated that this program would be more costly to administer than the commodity program formerly in effect in Hancock county.

Parents Club Elects Officers

Charles Stachle was elected president of Our Lady of the Gulf P.T.S. at last Thursday's meeting and Mrs. A.M. Thomas was elected vice president.

Following the business session Sister Patricia invited parents to view the aquarium, a new addition to the entrance hall, and the terrarium, a project completed by Busy Bee Junior Gardeners under the leadership of Mrs. L.H. Ott.

'The Velvet Glove' Recalls Memories

by Emily de Montauzi

Perhaps in our times, when theater goes usually have no other choice than sophisticated comedy - or - psychological drama, it was the ideal year to revive a simple, uncomplicated play like Rosemary Casey's "The Velvet Glove". First produced here in 1955 and directed by Caroline Kiefer, the show won an award at that time as best play of the season; an extra point of interest in the 1971 version was that the director was her daughter, Laurie

Memorial Sacred Concert Given

The Sacred Concert Sunday afternoon at the Main St. United Methodist Church was well attended despite the terrific downpour at mid-day, and many friends enjoyed the program of organ and vocal numbers. The concert was in memory of Dr. A.P. Smith and Leo W. Seal, Sr., who were honored and beloved citizens of this community for many years. Members of the families were present.

Mr. Bill Fagan, organist of St. John the Baptist Catholic Church in New Orleans played Intermezzo (Mascagni) Agnus Dei (Bizet) and A Mighty Fortress. He accompanied the soloist, Mr. Joe Macaluso who pleased the audience with a number of favorites, such as "How Great Thou Art", "The Lord's Prayer", "Because", "Bless This House" and "I Believe". The entire congregation sang "Amazing Grace" and the closing number "America the Beautiful".

The Rev. Bernard Walton, pastor of the host church, gave the invocation and a few words of welcome. Mrs. C.C. McDonald, Sr. introduced the guest musicians, and following the program, words of appreciation and the closing prayer were given by Mr. Walter Silverio, Choir Director of the Church.

A social hour followed in the Fellowship Hall where members of different churches visited with the musicians and out of town guests. Mrs. Sam Whitfield was chairman of the hostesses, Mrs. Fred Woods and Mrs. T. T. Robin poured coffee from a silver service at one end of the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of flowers in the fall colors.

ANGUS ASSOCIATION
John Robert Lachar, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Missouri, announced Lloyd D. Miller, executive secretary. There were 340 memberships issued to breeders of registered Aberdeen-Angus in the United States during the past month.

Sodality Names New Officers

Sodality of Our Lady of St. Clare's Parish held its monthly meeting last Tuesday afternoon in Costello Hall with Mrs. Marcus Eichhorn, prefect, conducting the business session.

Mrs. A. N. Grass, recording secretary, presented minutes of the September and October meetings and Mrs. Adrien Chagnard gave the financial report. A report on the socials sponsored by the Sodality the second Wednesday of each month was given by Mrs. Henry Berry, chairman and Mrs. E. N. Canady, publicity chairman, gave her report.

Plans for the group's Christmas party Saturday, December 18, at 7 p. m. in Costello Hall, were made and Mrs. A. D. Diebold was named chairman for the affair. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and is asked to contact Mrs. Diebold at 487-9313 in order to eliminate duplication of dishes.

Mrs. Stanley Carvin, new member was welcomed. Mrs. William Faulkner, announced

Kiefer. Byrd. It was her first show and by any standards an unqualified success.

The action of the play takes place in the office of the Mother Superior of a convent in upstate New York, and all but three of the characters are members of a religious community. For many in the audience the sight of nuns in the habits of sisters of St. Joseph brought back memories of their own days in St. Joseph Academy. Non-Catholic spectators enjoyed a glimpse into an unfamiliar world, and judging by the comments overheard at intermission the gentle humor of the plot was effective and keenly appreciated... especially as a pre-Christmas offering of the theatre. The timing of such a play could not have been improved upon.

Star of the show was Mother Hildebrand, played with real finesse by Frances Fran-chiewicz, who could not have had a role more different from the stage, filling minor roles as other nuns in the convent, were perfectly cast and particularly effective. Their performances added an impression of depth to the play and provided a necessary contrast to the dynamic personalities of Mother Hildebrand and Sister Monica.

Four of the five men in the show were making their debut on our local stage. The fifth, Victor Frankiewicz, is an old pro in the theatre and played the mild-mannered local priest in his usual capable way. Worthy opponent of Mother Hildebrand, Bishop Gregory, was so out-foxed by her political manipulations and faith in her cause that the audience could not refrain from a little pity for him... and newcomer Guy Boule handled his role beautifully. Matt Hunter, as the aging Monsignor Burke, gave a performance that one of the brothers from St. Stanislaus (who ought to know) was overheard to call "most realistic... the outstanding performance of the show". Both he and Bill Merlin, who played the role of a newspaper editor with real flair, have had previous experience before moving to this area, and the Little Theatre should be congratulated on having discovered their talents.

Another promising newcomer, who had never set foot on stage before, was Mike Smith, playing the part of a young history teacher and providing the plot with its touch of romance. Cast opposite him was delightful Karen Compretta, well-remembered as the ballerina in "You Can't Take It With You", and this time portraying a secretary in the Mother Superior's office. The performances of these two young people added yet another contrast to the convent atmosphere.

Producer of the show was Olive McKenna and technical director was Joseph Servat, both of whom deserve particular plaudits for the smoothness and efficiency of the performance. Even on the night a possum (yes, really and truly) came to the play, the situation was handled with the greatest aplomb. Special praise too should be given to Mrs. McKenna for arranging the costumes through the kindness of the Sisters of St. Joseph and St. Augustine's Seminary, who also helped furnish the set with authenticity. The lovely windows were the work of local artist Emily Gardner. And of course, the unsung heroes of the whole evening were the backstage workers without whom the entire show would have come unglued. All in all, "The Velvet Glove" finished the 1971 season on just the right note and with just the deft touch such a play demands.

Stanislaus Students Named To State Band

Brother Lee Barker, S.C., Principal of St. Stanislaus High School, announced that Victor Frankiewicz and David Johns have been selected to represent St. Stanislaus at the annual All State Band Clinic, which will be held at the Biloxi Sheraton Hotel, will take place on December 8, 9, and 10, 1971. The purpose of this clinic, which will be attended by approximately three hundred students from the state of Mississippi is to bring the best band students from the state with the idea of reading and playing the best of current band material. The participants will be auditioned and placed in one of three bands according to their ability.

Victor, a senior at St. Stanislaus, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Frankiewicz, 402 Felicity St., Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. David, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Watson A. Johns, 310 Carroll Avenue, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. The band director at St. Stanislaus High School is Mr. H. Davis Williams and the band moderator is Brother Anton Sokira, S.C.

Veterans Reminded Of Assistance Day

Russell Chapman, President of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce reminded veterans again today that Veterans Assistance Day would be held in Gulfport on Wednesday, December 8, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. The one day event will be located in the American Legion Post Home in Gulfport.

Chapman said that the primary purpose of Veterans Assistance Day is to provide jobs for veterans. He added, however, that officials from the Veterans Administration Center in Jackson will be at the American Legion Post Home all day to assist veterans or their dependents in obtaining benefits. Persons interested in VA pension, G.I. Loans, G.I. Education, medical benefits, etc., should contact the VA representative in the American Legion Post Home.

INFANT BAPTIZED - Carl Edward, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker of Gulfport, was baptized last Sunday in Main Street United Methodist Church with Rev. Bernard Walton, pastor officiating.

Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Banderet, stood proxy for the godparents, Gary Raymond of Maryland and Mrs. W.W. James, Jr., of Miami, Fla. Carl was baptized in the dress worn by his grandfather Banderet at his christening.

Legion Post Home

Chapman added that there will be representatives from the Miss. State Employment Office and Federal Civil Service to provide information regarding job opportunities in the Coastal Area. Any veteran seeking employment should certainly plan to attend this Veterans Assistance Day event, as many veterans will be referred directly to employers from the American Legion Post Home, Chapman said.

Other agencies who will have representatives available on December 8 are Miss. State Veterans Affairs Commission, Miss. Farm and Home Board, U.S. Department of Labor, and Federal and State Employment Representatives.

Chapman who is a member of the Veterans Assistance Day Committee, said that although this event is being held in Gulfport, veterans from all areas of Miss. are invited to this one day affair.

This will be the first time in the history of Mississippi that veterans can get one Stop Service, regarding employment, as well as information and assistance regarding their Federal and State Benefits.

Veterans desiring to file for benefits should bring along their military separation papers, Chapman concluded.

Warriors Blank Westminster

The Saint Clare Warriors brought their record to 4-3 last week as they defeated Westminster Academy of Gulfport 21-0. In the past, the Warriors defense played a fine ball game. The Warriors started their scoring drive the first series they had the ball. They pounced on the Westminster defense, picking up four and five yards at a time. It was fullback David Handshoe who finally broke through for five yards and the touchdown. Clarence Piazza put the ball right through the line and the score was 7-0. During the final minutes of the second quarter, the Warriors put their passing game together and halfback Greg Futch threw a 31-yard touchdown pass to end David Handshoe at the back of the end zone. The Westminster defense was blocked. The score at halftime was St. Clare 13 and Westminster 0. In the third quarter, the Westminster team came out strong but not strong enough as

HANCOCK ST.

BAY ST. LOUIS

Another long Thanksgiving holiday has passed with sportsmen having a ball catching fish and killing game, while there were plenty out of town folks visiting relatives and friends, enjoying Thanksgiving dinner and house parties. The stay-at-home had a lot of football games to watch with ideal weather most everywhere. Along the fishing line a lot of fish were caught, doves were killed, deer bagged as well as rabbits and squirrels. Speckles were caught by trolling with live and dead bait and lures. Speckles were gotten up Rotten Bayou, in Wolf River, Jordan River, the pipe line canal and lower Campbell's Bayou. Those fishing for red fish did OK with them. Flounders are still being caught.

Several deer have been reported being killed. Among those getting a good bag are Orla Lader and many last Thursday. Orla and his son Tommy do quite a bit of hunting and fishing occasionally. Orla is one of our old timers when it comes to hunting. Knows the woods hereabout like a book.

Making a real catch of fish last week was Ed Orlie and his son-in-law, Russell Elliott and grandson Carlos Lader. They spent three days out in the marsh and returned with about 600 pounds of speckles, red fish and flounders. Ed and Russell are old timers at the game. They know where to get 'em.

Home from Ole Miss for the holidays was John Gennin. He was visiting his family and friends. Left Sunday to go back to school. Anovyr Ole Miss student home was John Scalfide, Jr. and wife, John was telling us of the 6 pound bass he caught recently. Was he proud of it. Enough to have it mounted. Don't blame you John. Bass that big are few and far between down this way.

Another local hunter who killed a 155 pound buck was Clarence Lader. He was hunting with Jimmy Trivaca up by Greenville, Miss. and a party of friends. He is a pretty proud fellow.

Things that are still around are Rock-a-chaws. The dirty little things stick to anything, hurt when they prick the skin and are hard to get rid of. They are in the grass back by the old day school and tennis court. Think they got their name from the students at St. Stanislaus. Don't know what they are really called.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Demoran made a fishing trip aboard their boat Thanksgiving day. Don't know what they caught. You can bet they returned home some kind of fish. They are both good fishermen and enjoy being on the water.

Przemias Asher has been getting his share of salt water fish lately. He does a lot of his fishing off the rock pile over at Henderson Point. He says there are specks, reds and flounders at this point most of the time. No boat needed.

"Pie" Lader, brother of Lloyd Lader has been down from Springfield, Mass. with his wife on a two week vacation. Visiting in his home state and doing a lot of fishing. He and his wife, Mrs. Lader, are both good fishermen and enjoy being on the water.

Would be nice for you fishermen who launch your boat from a truck or trailer most anywhere to think of the other fellow. After launching your boat move your car or truck to give the other fellow a chance. We love to fish too.

Bob and Nell Dahlstrom were down over the weekend from St. Louis, Mo., mingling with friends. Always glad to see them. They were former residents and it is a pleasure to greet them.

John Monil and Ike Lang fish a lot together. They have been getting their share of speckles and red fish down in Bayou Caddy. They know how and where to get them. Been doing it a long time.

Mrs. Holden M. Barre is one of our best lady fishermen. She has been doing it a long time and loves it. Catches anything that bites. Mrs. Barre also loves raising flowers. What can be a
